Council Receives More Petitions Favoring Highway Through City

Members of the Harrisburg City Council have received petitions containing the signatures of more than 1,000 Harrisburg residents approving the proposal to make Route 13 through the city a four lane highway.

A petition containing 263 signatures was presented to the council at its meeting Tuesday afternoon by Bernie Moore, Harrisburg pharmacist, and Mayor Claude Gibbons stated he was handed another petition with 26 signatures just as he entered the council room. Two weeks ago petitions favoring the proposal were presented, containing 780 signatures, making a total of 1,069 residents who have expressed approval.

Brother of Faye Moffett Paints Eisenhower Murals

ROSS MOFFETT of Provincetown, Mass., one of two artists who painted a series of murals in the Eisenhower museum at Abilene, Kansas, is a brother of Faye Moffett, Harrisburg high school teacher.

The series of murals depicting the life of the President will be unveiled at Abilene, the boyhood home of the President, on Saturday.

Painting the murals with Artist Moffett was Louise Bouche of New York. They were selected by the National Academy of Design to do the work. Scenes were done on canvas and were cemented to the walls.

The $50,000 murals, covering nearly 1,200 square feet on the four walls of the main lobby of the Eisenhower museum, were the gift of the National Academy of Design as administrator of the Mary Gertrude Abbey Fund in memory of her artist husband, Edwin Austin Abbey, who died in 1911.

Niece Susan was a laymate of Michael Foster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Foster, about eight or nine years ago when the Fosters were living at Carpin, California, while Mr. Foster was attending a school of photography.

59 Fail to Keep Appointments As Blood Donors

Fifty-nine people who made appointments to give blood and then failed to show up last Thursday and Friday represented the difference between fulfilling the Saline county blood quota and missing the mark, the Red Cross office reported today.

At Eldorado Thursday, 50 prospective donors showed up, and 42 pints of blood were taken, but 29 others who had made appointments to give blood failed to appear. The proportion was about the same at Harrisburg Friday, with 112 reporting, 90 pints taken, and 49 failing to appear.

One suggestion made by the recruitment committee which might help to correct the situation on the next Bloodmobile visit was that anyone with an appointment who finds it impossible to appear might send a neighbor or friend in their stead, so that the county could more positively count on the number of donors scheduled to appear and the quota could be met.

Union Thanksgiving Service at First Baptist Church

Persons of all religious faiths are invited to attend the annual Union Thanksgiving service tomorrow at 8:30 a. m. at the Harrisburg First Baptist church.

Wilson Informed Board Cannot Hike Garrison Bond

State's Attorney Robert V. Wilson today received an opinion from Attorney General Latham Castle which stated that the Saline County Board of Supervisors cannot increase the bond of County Clerk Don B. Garrison.

"There is no provision in the statute which gives the county board the power to increase the penalty and approved the bond," the opinion said.

"As the statute makes no provision for increasing the bond of the county clerk after he has assumed the duties of the office, it is my view that the county board lacks authority to take such action."

The county board last week, after learning that Garrison's surety bonds were $5,000 for his capacity as county clerk and $5,000 for clerk of the county court, voted to increase the bond to $50,000.

The action came after Wilson told the board his opinion was that such action could not be taken during Garrison's term of office.

Overproduction Big Farm Problem, Production Credit Group Advised

Lester Breniman Of SIU Addresses 14-County Meeting

The central problem in the United States farm picture is overproduction, and the immediate future looks no better, Lester Breniman of the Speech department of Southern Illinois University told a 14-county farm meeting here Tuesday at the Kurto country club.

Mr. Breniman, who was reared on a farm in Iowa and who has kept close to the agricultural situation in this country, delivered his address, "The New Breed of Farmer," before the 23rd annual meeting of the Harrisburg Production Credit association.

A total of 307 persons was present from the following southern Illinois counties served by the association: Saline, Gallatin, Hardin, Pope, Massac, Alexander, Pulaski, Johnson, Williamson, White, Hamilton, Franklin, Jackson and Union.

Besides Mr. Breniman's address, the stockholders re-elected W. H. Beauman of Tunnel Hill and E. A. Fosse of Marion directors for three more years and heard a financial

Order Phone Tolls, Eldorado To Nearby Towns

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (Special)—The Illinois Commerce Commission today announced it has authorized the General Telephone Company of Illinois to discontinue free interexchange service between its Eldorado exchange and Broughton, Equality, Galatia, Omaha and Raleigh and to apply standard toll rates in lieu thereof.

The company's Eldorado exchange, the Commission said, recently converted to dial operation and the companies operating in the free interexchange communities would not equip their lines to meet the dial equipment in Eldorado.

Installation of the dial equipment, the Commission said, would have permitted continuance of the free interexchange service.

The order requires General Telephone to construct toll lines to provide toll service to the aforementioned communities with Harrisburg a toll center and free interexchange service to that point and Ridgway will be continued. Testimony at commission hearings disclosed that 97 per cent of the Eldorado subscribers made no calls over the free service lines.

The commission order disclosed the toll rates which are to be imposed will be as follows: station to station—Eldorado to Broughton 15c; to Equality 10c; to Omaha 15c; Raleigh 10c; and to Galatia 15c; and person to person from Eldorado to Broughton 35c; to Equality 30c; to Omaha 35c; to Raleigh 30c; and to Galatia 35c.

Name Molotov To Powerful Post in Russia

MOSCOW (AP)—Former Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov was appointed today to the post of minister of state control, one of the most powerful ministries in the Soviet government.

Western observers in London immediately interpreted Molotov's appointment to the new job as a resurgence to power of the old line Stalinists in the unending Soviet struggle for ascendancy. Communist Party boss Nikita Khrushchev heads the anti-Stalinist faction.

The State Control Ministry post was filled until 1953 by V. N. Merkulov, who was the late Secret Police Chief L. P. Beria's chief supporter in the government while Josef Stalin was alive. Beria and Merkulov were executed together.

Molotov, still a first deputy premier, thus assumed responsibility for the office which has overall economic and financial control of all government activities.

Beazley New Schlumberger Manager Here

Bill Beazley, field engineer from Florida, is the new district manager of Schlumberger Well Surveying Corp., succeeding W. P. Baker who is being transferred to an undisclosed destination.

Mr. Beazley has been with Schlumberger for seven years, having spent three years in Florida and previous to that four years in Duncan, Okla. He was graduated from the A and M college at Stillwater, Okla., in 1950 with a B.S. degree in electrical engineering.

He and his wife, Louise, and daughter, Beverly, 6, plan to move permanently to Harrisburg around the first of the year and will live in the home now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Baker at 321 West O'Garra.

In Florida Mr. Beazley is a member of the Presbyterian church and the Elks club.

Schlumberger is a relatively young business, having been started in this country in 1934 by an oil company from Paris, France. Headquarters for the United States, Canada and South America are in Houston, Texas. The company also operates in Europe and Asia.

Evansville, Ind., is headquarters for the Northeast Division which includes ten districts: Evansville, Harrisburg, Mt. Carmel, Mt. Vernon, Flora, Robinson, Mattoon, Mt. Pleasant, Mich., Washington, Pa., and Wooster, O.

There are 32 field engineers in this division and Mr. Beazley's position will continue to include field work. In the Harrisburg office there are two other engineers, a well logging unit, well perforating unit, six operators, two office secretaries and a night dispatcher.

Mr. Baker will report to Tulsa, Okla., Nov. 26 for a three weeks' management training course after which he will receive his new assignment.

The body was taken to the Cox funeral home to lie in state. The funeral will be held at St. Joseph's Catholic church in Ridgway, the time to be announced after relatives are contacted. Burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery at Eldorado, where Mrs. Taggart formerly resided.

Her husband died several years ago and Michael is her only child.

Polio Epidemic Reported In War-Torn Budapest; Hospitals, Schools Damaged

VIENNA (AP)—A polio epidemic has broken out in war-ravaged Budapest, the Communist-controlled Budapest Radio announced today.

The radio said a polio epidemic had hit Budapest and Debrecen, the nation's third largest city 100 miles east of Budapest.

It also reported the capital was threatened by a spreading epidemic of amoebic jaundice from polluted water or vegetables.

The epidemic has been caused by a severe shortage of soaps and detergents, the radio said. The Communist masters had denied early entrance of relief supplies.

Fresh Milk Shortage

Budapest Radio said the health of babies and small children is threatened by a shortage of fresh milk in a country torn by starvation since the start of the revolt.

The public health situation generally in Budapest is "unsatisfactory," it said. Much of the city itself was rubble from Soviet tanks and guns, and water mains and sewers were broken during the fight between the patriots and the Soviet troops.

Budapest Radio said several of Budapest's largest hospitals suffered serious damage in the fighting.

The broadcast listed these as the big Rochus Hospital, the Second Surgical Clinic, the Second Women's Clinic, the Second Clinic for Skin and Venereal Disease and the Institute for Nervous Diseases.

The broadcast said the hospitals had to be housed in other buildings until the damaged buildings are reconstructed.

Secretary Asks UN to Approve Talks with Egypt

Report 3 Powers Questioned About Withdrawal Plans

BULLETIN

DAMASCUS (AP)—Syria charged Israel today with massing troops along its Syrian-Jordan borders and asked the United Nations to investigate.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld reported today that Egypt has agreed to work out a basis for the maintenance of the United Nations Emergency Force in its territory.

He reported also that he was negotiating with private firms to clear the blocked Suez Canal in conformity with Egypt's request for U. N. assistance in the task.

His dual reports, circulated to the General Assembly, left unanswered the questions of how long the U. N. police force would remain in Egypt and how soon the British, French and Israeli forces would withdraw from Egyptian territory.

He asked the General Assembly for immediate approval of his secret talks with the Egyptian government in Cairo and the 79 nation world parliament was expected to act Thursday in a Thanksgiving Day session.

Hammarskjöld's report referred to the assembly's resolution of Nov. 7—two full weeks ago—which demanded the immediate withdrawal of British, French and Israeli forces which had fought their way into Egypt.

Calls for "Clarifications"
U. N. sources refused "either to confirm or deny" reports from other authoritative sources that Hammarskjöld put four pointed questions to the three powers Tuesday. They were:

1. To what extent has any withdrawal from Egypt taken place?
2. What are the plans for withdrawal?

3. Why has there been no progress—or such little progress—in complying with the assembly's cease fire-and-withdrawal resolutions?

4. What is the opinion of the three governments of the state of compliance with the cease fire?
The "initial activities" of UNEF, Hammarskjöld reported to the assembly, "are determined by the fact that, as yet, no withdrawals have taken place in compliance with the resolutions of the General Assembly of Nov. 2 and 2, 1956."

"I shall report to the General Assembly on this matter as soon as I receive clarifications from the governments concerned," he said.

He gave the assembly copies of an agreement between him and the government of Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser in which both pledged good faith in sending and receiving the U. N. police force.

The agreement said it was the intention of Egypt and Hammarskjöld "to proceed forthwith... to explore jointly concrete aspects of the functioning of UNEF, including its stationing and the questions of its lines of communication and supply."

Hammarskjöld's report emphasized that the General Assembly itself, in its resolutions setting up UNEF, had stipulated that the force could operate in Egypt only with the consent of the Egyptian government.

The President's Mandate

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
President Eisenhower's tremendous, mandate from the American people can have wide effect on the course of politics and government in the time ahead.

When a man wins the presidency by more than nine million votes, as he did, his position both at home and before the world is strongly reinforced.

Politicians of both parties know that his word carries great weight with the people. Any time he chooses to appeal to the citizenry over the heads of Congress, the nation's representatives may find themselves subject to intense pressures from home to follow the President's course.

This being so, even the threat of such an appeal may achieve much.

Republicans eager to preserve their political skins at the 1958 elections will think twice before making a record which puts them at grave odds with Mr. Eisenhower.
Some who did that in his first term bit the dust on Nov. 6.

Democrats, controlling Congress, will have to be cautious in handling the President's programs.
Opposition for its own sake might endanger their 1958 prospects. The country requires coalition government now if it is to function properly, and the winning Democratic party realizes it must cooperate with the victorious President.

It is commonplace to say that after 1958, if not before, the President's authority will diminish since he can't run for re-election again and thus both his own party and the opposition will be looking elsewhere for the focus of power.

Actually, this is one of the cliches of politics which has not been seriously tested for a long time. And there are some who doubt its validity.

If it be assumed that his personal popularity continues to the end of his second term, politicians might find it just as perilous to go to the polls in 1960 with an anti-Eisenhower record as they would if he were running.

A president who is not running again may consider himself free of many normal political restrictions. Consequently he may take a more forceful line on many matters, to the embarrassment of politicians who would prefer a different tack.

As rank and file Republicans and all Democrats seek to digest the magnitude of Mr. Eisenhower's 1956 triumph, so our friends and foes abroad study the meaning.

And for them there can be little doubt that more than any chief executive since Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1936, President Eisenhower is the leader of all Americans and must be dealt with in that light.

Happier Than Ever

We may be pretty safe in saying now that, in addition to Sen. Estes Kefauver, Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler of Kentucky has been added to the list of Democratic presidential hopefuls for 1960.

The victory of two Republican nominees for the Senate in Kentucky has given a quiet assist to Happy's personal Four-Year Plan.
For it brought about the eclipse—at least for a while—of Chandler's two bitterest Kentucky adversaries, Sen. Earle Clements and former Gov. Lawrence Wetherby.

This should clear the way for Chandler to consolidate his strength at home and begin fansying out a little to other political pastures.

Most people seemed to think his 1956 candidacy was a joke, but there was more than a suspicion Happy didn't see it that way, and he has flatly stated he is going to "run for the roses" harder than ever next time.

If his public remarks this year are a sample of what we can expect, then Chandler's entry into the lists—however serious to him —is bound to produce a lot of fun for the rest of us Americans.

"H-m-m-m---Something to Be Thankful For"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Eisenhower Believes Time Has Come For Long-Range Peace
Discussions; Kremlin May Be In Genuine Mood For Peace;
Ike's Advisers Don't Entirely Agree.

WASHINGTON. — Regardless of the concealed gimmicks and propaganda twists in the Bulgarian disarmament note, it comes at a time when two significant situations are at hand. They are:

Situation No. 1—Foreign Minister Shepilov has hinted at the idea of a Russian-American agreement to keep the peace of the world.

Situation No. 2—President Eisenhower has set himself the goal of fulfilling the pledges he made during the election campaign—the achievement of peace. He believes he can negotiate an agreement the Russians which would bring the world at least ten years of peace. He could then go down in history as a peace President.

Some advisers, especially those in the Pentagon, are vigorously opposed to these views, believe their commander-in-chief may be too trusting of the Russians. The State Department, among others, is skeptical. U. N. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge was so suspicious when Shepilov suggested, at the end of an informal chat, that the United States and Russia between them could keep the peace, he was inclined to brush it aside.

The chat took place in New York. Shepilov suggested that Britain and France were no longer first-class powers. He congratulated the United States for condemning their attack on Egypt and suggested that Russia and the U. S. A. work together in the future.

IKE'S PEACE REASONING

The reasoning of the President.

according to close friends, goes something like this:

The Kremlin knows that World War III would destroy Russia as well as the United States. This, incidentally, was Eisenhower's interpretation of the Russian state-of-mind even before Bulgarian put it in exactly those words in last week's disarmament proposal.

The Kremlin also knows that in time of war it could not possibly control the satellite peoples. Control over them depends on transportation and communication; and in time of war "transportation and communication" would be cut off.
The satellites would revolt. The great unassimilated population masses of the U. S. S. R. would be in turmoil.

Therefore, Eisenhower reasons, the Kremlin needs peace and knows that it needs peace.

Accordingly, a marriage of convenience might be worked out whereby Russia agreed to keep out of the Near East and the U.
S. A. agreed to keep hands off the satellite countries. Russia would police all of Eastern Europe. The United States, in turn, would be left to work out the future of the Near East and Africa.

This cuts squarely across election promises made by both Eisenhower and Dulles to free the satellite nations, but it's reasoned that world peace would be worth this sacrifice.

STALIN AND FDP

The broad outline of the President's thinking goes back to the same principle President Roosevelt was working on with Stalin and Churchill, and which Eisenhower, then commander in Europe, was cognizant of. It was in conformity with this over-all plan that he pulled U. S. troops out of Czechoslovakia after General Patton occupied that country; also pulled U. S. troops out of Potsdam and down to south of the River Elbe.

Churchill, Stalin, and Roosevelt had gone so far as to discuss a division of the Balkans whereby Yugoslavia and Greece were to remain under British influence, with Bulgaria and Romania under Russian influence. To this end, Stalin even gave Churchill advice that the man to work with in Yugoslavia was a Croat leader named Tito, then an upstart underground leader in the Balkans.

This whole scheme of Russian-American cooperation fell apart after Roosevelt's death in April, 1945. It is not President Eisenhower's plan to put the exact jigsaw puzzle back together as Stalin, Roosevelt, and Churchill planned it. But in the back of his mind is the general idea that the Kremlin has every reason to bargain for control of the satellites in return for an American free hand in the Near East, also that the leaders of the Kremlin more than ever need a period of stabilizing peace.

Note—Pentagon leaders emphasize that the United States today has the upper hand in A-bomb H-bomb development, probably would not have it after ten years.
They distrust the Bulgarian proposal to ban all H and A bombs, destroy atomic stockpiles, and permit international inspection to prevent resumption of an atomic arms race.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Congressman Jimmy Roosevelt has been invited to London to talk before members of the British Parliament on oil. His speech last winter on the Anglo-American oil monopoly in the Near East attracted more attention in Europe than in the U. S. A. . . . Ex-Mayor Bill O'Dwyer of New York, now a resident of Mexico City, is coming to New York for the Saints and Sinners luncheon this week. There was a time when critics claimed O'Dwyer didn't dare return to the U. S. A., but he came back last year to start the Dodgers' re-winning streak toward their first world series title in history. . . .
The truth is O'Dwyer just likes Mexico. Treasury agents have probed everything they can, even dug up around his brother's California ranch to try to find hidden dough, no luck. All they could find was an entertainment deduc-tion for money spent out of his own pocket when O'Dwyer was ambassador to Mexico. The Treasury is trying to prove this was not a business expense. . . . Little noticed but effective has been the job ex-Ambassador Joe Mora of Uruguay has been doing as head of the Pan-American Union. . . .
The D. C. Bar Association, though supposed to uphold the Constitution, doesn't believe in free speech. After inviting Robert Valleur, counselor of the French embassy, to address them, the Washington legal fraternity disclaimed him publicly for expressing the French point of view on John Foster Dulles' bungling of the Suez crisis.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.
(Written for NEA Service)

What we wear affects both the wearer and others who look at us.
We think that we choose our clothing with the idea of how it will appear to our associates, our friends and our families. Yet we also want to be pleased.

Actually our clothing is not merely to keep us warm and adequately covered and to conform to style. We use it to reflect our personalities, to flatter our attractiveness and to emphasize our character.

Part of our selective process is unconscious and part is deliberate.
The result is morale building and self-satisfying. In this respect our clothing affects our attitudes, and our service to others and our daily work itself.

The way we appear to others is even more affected by the spiritual dress we wear. This spiritual attire is not tried on for size and color. It does not have to be replaced nor patched nor changed because of seasons or styles. Our spiritual appearance is determined by our nearness to God.

If we live in accord with His pattern, our personalities will be attractive with love and service.
Kindness will cover our beings.
Our eyes will be deep with sincerity. Our smiles will be radiant with courage, and we shall be relaxed and free from the tenseness of fear.

Day of the Outlaw

By Lee Wells

Copyright 1955, by Lee Wells. Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Nine outlaws, led by Jack Bruhn, hole up in Bitter, Wyo., isolated by impassable roads during a chinook thaw. One townsman has already been killed and several manhandled. The outlaws have seized the stock of guns and ammunition in the store, and searched the townspeople and their homes for guns. Dan Murdock fears for the safety of Paula Preston, with whom he is in love. Dan, foreman of the Star ranch, also has been stranded in town and is dining at her place with her father, Phil Preston, and Blaise Starrett, owner of the Star, who also loves Paula.

XII

Paula came to the table with a steaming bowl of potatoes. Starrett felt Dan's gaze and he looked hastily around. Their eyes met and locked. There was challenge and then a slight narrowing of Starrett's eyes, a tightening of his jaw. So this, Dan thought with a sudden shock, is how friendship dies... quietly, in the way Starrett slowly sat back in his chair.

"How long will it last?" Phil demanded. Starrett moved restlessly and made a gesture of easy confidence.

"So they've taken over for a while. It won't be long. They haven't done any looting."

Phil lifted a gaunt finger in warning. "But don't be so sure that they'll do. You can't predict that kind."

"Odium kills for the love of it," Dan said soberly. "Tex Darrow is a man who takes what he wants. Juarez Smith is sneaky and dangerous. Egan and Vause are coyotes. Denver has a sense of humor but I figure he could crack a joke while he robbed his grandmother."

"You're forgetting Shorty Ratner," Starrett said in dry sarcasm. "Good chance he'll die. That's one less sidewinder with a gun in our backs." Dan toyed with a bread crumb. "There's the kid, Hiatt. I don't know about him."

"The nice-looking boy?" Paula asked. "He kept watching Ernie."

"An outlaw and renegade," Phil snapped. Starrett chuckled dryly. "Worry never yet roped a steer. Leave 'em alone and Bruhn will keep his promise."

"If he can keep the rest in line," Dan added. "Something's bothering that bunch. I don't know what it is, but they could be clawing at one another at the drop of a hat." Phil twisted about. "You reckon so?"

Dan shrugged. "Just a guess. But one way or the other, we got to keep our eyes open for the first little slip. They're bound to make one sooner or later."

"Like drawing to an inside straight," Starrett sneered. Dan's head snapped up.

"What's wrong with you, Blaise? You act like you want these renegades in town!"

"You're crazy," Starrett growled. "I'm saying play along with 'em until they leave."

It was actually a relief to follow Phil into one of the cold upper bedrooms. Phil placed the lamp on a marble-topped table and went to the window, bent to peer out. "Someone stirring at Doc Langer's."

"Nursing Shorty," Dan said shortly. Phil went to the door, paused. "First time in my life I ever wished a man would die. . . . Good night."

"Good night," Dan and Starrett echoed and Phil softly closed the door. Starrett sank on the edge of the bed, leaned back, hooking his knee with his clasped hands.

"Dan, you keep watching Paula all the time and you acted like I had no right to talk to her. Why?" Dan saw a chair against the wall and sat down. "I could ask you the same question."

Starrett rocked slowly back and forth, watching Dan narrowly. "I'll answer it, Dan. I intend to marry her. What's your answer?"

"The same." Dan expected anger but the only sign was a faint coloring on Starrett's lean cheeks.

"I figured as much. But you haven't a chance." He leaned forward. "She'll be mistress of Star. Can you offer as much?"

"No," Dan admitted. "I draw your pay and I haven't got an acre of range to my name."

"See!" Starrett exclaimed and smiled. "She will get an ambitious man, one who's going to make a big mark in this Territory. Star will be the biggest spread in all this country, Dan."

Starrett opened his mouth to make some hot retort but changed his mind. The two men crawled into the bed, backs to one another, each carefully seeing to it that he stayed well on his own side.

Starrett rolled over on his back. "Awake, Dan?"

"Yes." "You've been worrying about Crane and me."

"I don't like gun wages." Starrett was silent a long moment. "Maybe there won't be any need to worry. Of course, it will make no difference about Paula, but you wouldn't have to worry about range war."

"What's changed you?"

"Me? . . . nothing. I still aim to have that range. But Crane's held here in town just like all the rest of us. His man has been shot up and he's felt Darrow's fist. He's mad, bound to be."

"Don't blame him."

"It just come to me, Dan. Maybe there's another way of bringing Crane to terms . . . or getting that range."

"You mean Jack Bruhn and his gang. You'd hire murderers."

Starrett's voice was dry and level. "There's no reason for you to worry about me, or Star either. You just went off the payroll. You don't work for me any more."

Time Growing Short for Leap Year Proposals

By GAY PAULEY

United Press Staff Correspondent NEW YORK (UPI) — Get going girls! Only 29 days left to do your Christmas shopping, and only 42 left to do your husband-shopping.

For Leap Year fast is passing into history, and there are only 42 days left in which to propose to Howard Hughes, Dag Hammarskjold, Elvis Presley or J. Edgar Hoover. We're counting Sundays and holidays, because Cupid's not on a five-day week.

It is encouraging to report that Leap Year already has paid dividends for several of us. Actress Grace Kelly altered her future to include Prince Rainier of Monaco. Margaret Truman married E. C. Daniel Jr., a New York newspaperman. Marilyn Monroe got hitched to playwright Arthur Miller.

A Good Year Guri Lie, daughter of Trygve Lie, the former secretary-general of the United Nations, eloped with William Zeckendorf Jr., son of the real estate millionaire. And New Jersey's 48-year-old Gov. Robert Meyner got engaged; he and Helen Stevenson, a distant cousin of Adlai, will be married in January.

The statistics don't tell who proposed to whom. But the facts from Uncle Sam indicate that all told, this has been a more prosperous Leap Year around the country than 1952.

The government reported that this year, January through August (the latest count available), there were 1,033,000 marriages, compared with 1,022,744 in the same period in 1952.

But the list of eligibles still is long, even if time is short. "Get Going, Girls"

Let's case the Continent first. There are Prince Bertil of Sweden, King Baudouin of Belgium; Baudouin's younger brother Prince Albert, Britain's young and gregarious Duke of Kent, and Peter Townsend, who wooed but lost Princess Margaret.

Closer home, the list includes Dag Hammarskjold, a blond and charming Swede; Adlai Stevenson; J. Edgar Hoover; House Speaker Sam Rayburn; House GOP Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr., and Senators Henry M. Jackson, Warren G. Magnuson, Richard B. Russell, and Theodore Francis Green. But Green, at 88, is pretty experienced at escaping Leap Year hazards.

Other potentials: Elvis (Hound Dog) Presley; Bing Crosby; Marlon Brando, and Liberace.

If your sights are set on $$$ as well as romance, we recommend Howard Hughes, West Coast plane builder, or Sid Richardson, Fort Worth, who some people say is a billionaire.

So get going, girls!

Pauline Moore Circle Holds Royal Service Program

Mrs. Pat Gilley was hostess to the members of the Pauline Moore circle last evening for the monthly Royal Service missionary program.

The program, entitled "Joy From Wells of Salvation," was presented in the form of the familiar daily international newscast with each member acting as a foreign correspondent. Following the hymn, "We've a Story to Tell," Mrs. Sutton read the scripture lesson from Isaiah 12:1-5.

News-casts were given by the following: Ruschlikon, Mrs. Henry Hancock; Hong Kong, Mrs. Gilley; Nigeria, Mrs. Ron Zeigler; Moscow, Mrs. George Howerton; Belgrade, Mrs. Charles Grisham. Mrs. Sutton served as the announcer.

Officers were installed for the new year by a guest, Mrs. D. H. Hiller, who used Japan as her theme. She was dressed in a purple and green kimono and used different articles of the Japanese people to represent each officer.

Pumpkin pie with whipped cream, coffee and Cokes were served to two guests, Mrs. Jim Guard and Mrs. Hiller, and to the following members: Mrs. George Howerton, Mrs. Charles Grisham, Mrs. Calvin Sutton, Mrs. Betty Hancock, Mrs. Ron Zeigler and son, Bobby, Mrs. Floyd Jones, Mrs. J. B. Clark, and Mrs. Pat Gilley.

Thanksgiving to Be Cold, Fair

By United Press
A cold snap chilled the western two thirds of the nation today following a snowstorm that dumped 4 to 8 inches of snow on many of the hard-hit drought states of the Midwest.

Meanwhile, weathermen said Thanksgiving Day will be generally fair but unseasonably cold across much of the nation.

Mild, rainy weather was expected from Alabama and Georgia into the Mid-Atlantic states Thursday while snow flurries were forecast for the Great Lakes region and the central and northern Appalachians. Light snow also was the prospect for parts of the lower Missouri Valley.

Heavy snow warnings were issued for Wisconsin, Minnesota and Upper Michigan.

Bad highway conditions posed dangers for Thanksgiving holiday travelers. Most states, however, hoped to have highways cleared before the bulk of the Turkey Day traffic began.

The National Safety Council hoped the nation's traffic toll would be held by the foul weather below the 110 deaths normal for a non-holiday Thursday late in November.

Cook County Official Indicted

CHICAGO (UP)—Frank Keenan, Cook County Assessor and Democratic party rebel, has been indicted by a grand jury on three charges of misconduct in office.

The jury Tuesday returned indictments against Keenan on two counts of alleged violations of the State Revenue Act and one count of malfeasance in office.

If convicted, Keenan could receive a maximum fine of $20,000, a sentence of one year in jail and removal from office.

The indictments were drawn up at the direction of State's Attorney John Gutknecht, who was not supported by Keenan in the last election.

Arraignment was set for Dec. 3, the final day of Gutknecht's term in office. He will be succeeded by Republican Benjamin Adamowski.

Keenan, vacationing in California, called the action "a dying gasp of the defeated candidate." The assessor planned to cut short his vacation and return to Chicago Monday.

Congressman Sees Soldier Shoot Refugee

VIENNA (UP)—Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) called for admission of 17,000 Hungarian refugees into the United States today a few hours after he had seen a Soviet soldier shoot down a Hungarian patriot trying to flee to Austria.

Walter, co-author of the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act, visited the Hungarian border at sunrise to watch the flood of refugees struggle across the frontier.

He was so enraged at what he saw he appealed for 12,000 more refugees than the 5,000 invited by President Eisenhower.

He said he saw a "terrifying example of medieval brutality." Fate of Man Uncertain

"We were standing on the bank of a canal when a man came running down the towpath," he said. "A shot rang out and he fell. He was about 100 yards away."

Walter said refugees told him Soviet troops had moved in to seal off the border area and that it was Russians who fired on them.

Other members of the party accompanying Walter said they did not know if the man shot at was killed.

They said a shot was fired as a group of Hungarians walked along the towpath of the canal which forms the Austro-Hungarian border at that point. They said the man may have ducked down into the reeds.

Illinois to Draft 1,078 in December

CHICAGO (UP)—Illinois selective service headquarters announced today that the state draft call for January will approximate the December call of 1,078 men.

The men will be included in a national call of 17,000 men announced earlier by national headquarters in Washington. All of them were slated for Army duty.

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Defense Department today announced a draft call of 17,000 men for January. All the draftees will go to the Army.

Arbor Day first was observed in Nebraska on April 10, 1872, when more than a million trees were planted.

Civilian Defense Official Praises Local Organization

Saline county is the only county in Illinois with three radiological pieces of equipment for the use of teaching civilian defense in schools and high schools. This was learned from Gen. J. L. Homer, Civilian Defense officer from Chicago, at a dinner meeting held at West Frankfort Tuesday night by the Civilian Defense.

More than 100 were present and from Saline county were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Altire, Harrisburg. Mr. Altire said that the radiological pieces are at Eldorado high school, and in the high school and Junior high school, Harrisburg.

General Homer further stated that Saline county's Civilian Defense organization and that of West Frankfort, were the best organized in the state.

He discussed with the Civilian Defense workers the Far East war situation and revealed to them some information that will not be made public.

Boy Lost on Bear Hunt Survives Five Days, Nights

MUNISING, Mich. (UP)—A 14-year-old boy who survived five frosty days and terror-filled nights lost in bear-infested woods said today he still wants to go back for another hunting trip.

The boy, Earl Harmon Jr., was rescued Tuesday and brought to a hospital here for treatment for exhaustion and frost-bite. He and a young uncle, Ralph Harmon, 16, became lost last week while hunting in Michigan's wild Upper Peninsula. They became separated and Ralph returned to the family camp Sunday.

Earl's father, 36, was among the first to reach the boy after a Civil Air Patrol plane spotted him Tuesday sitting on the ground, exhausted and wet from stumbling through marshland, his hands and feet frostbitten.

day, plus the billions spent on the program itself.

Although there has been no real idea advanced to take care of surpluses, he suggested that sub-par farmers should be encouraged to get into some other activity.

"In the farm picture today," he said, "there's no place for the rustic, untrained farmer."

"The farmer of today," he continued, "must be a business manager, an accountant, a veterinarian, an investor, a mechanic, a soil expert, an expert on insects and what it takes to get rid of them, and a weather forecaster."

Although he saw no better picture in the immediate future, he stated that change has been a constant factor in the history of farming and that he could see no reason to believe it would not continue to change.

Reports Given

Following entertainment from the Harrisburg Township high school and lunch, the meeting was turned over to Guy A. DeNeal to act as chairman. Paul R. Drott read the minutes of the meeting a year ago and Troy L. Hicks introduced guests and PCA officials and office personnel. The report on the activities of the directors and the executive committee was given by George B. Bader Jr.

Raymond H. Vinyard, in giving the financial report, pointed out that the net earnings of the PCA for the year ending Sept. 30, 1956, were $8,030.51. Of this $3,056.90 was added to the reserves.

Following two vocal solos by Sam Wallace, accompanied by Jack Blackard at the piano, Mr. Breniman gave his talk. C. E. Etienne gave the report of the nominating committee, after which the committee's recommendations, Mr. Foster and Mr. Beauman, were approved unanimously.

Other directors are Max Wilson of Ridgway, F. E. Bramlet of Eldorado and W. P. Rendleman of Wolf Lake.

CONGRESS DEBATES FIRST RESOLUTION, 1789...

AMERICA'S OLDEST HOLIDAY.

WORSHIP AND RENEWAL OF FAMILY TIES KEYNOTE THANKSGIVING TODAY...

The oldest and most truly American of our holidays, Thanksgiving, was celebrated by the Pilgrims in a feast with their Indian friends in 1621. Two years later, the first real Thanksgiving was set aside, not as a harvest festival, but as a day of prayer. A resolution proclaiming our first national Thanksgiving was passed in Congress despite vigorous debate, and George Washington set aside Thursday, Nov. 26, 1789, as "a day of Public Thanksgiving and Prayer." President Lincoln, influenced greatly by the pleas of Mrs. Sarah Josepha Hale, issued a National Thanksgiving Proclamation on Oct. 3, 1863—in the midst of the Civil War—making Thanksgiving an annual holiday. Since that time, every President has proclaimed Thanksgiving a legal holiday, on which the whole nation closes its shops, offices, schools and banks, and offers thanks to God for the blessings of our free and bountiful land.

London Truck Drivers Protest Fuel Rationing

LONDON (UP)—Hundreds of truck drivers walked off their jobs today in the first open revolt against the government's drastic Suez gasoline rationing order.

The truck drivers protested against fuel cuts that brought an order from the nationalized British Road Services (BRS) to lay off one crew in every 10 to stretch waning gasoline supplies until fuel can again be shipped through the Suez Canal.

British Road Services headquarters said about 1,000 men were on strike in London. The nationalized truck lines operates practically all long-distance highway freight transportation in Britain.

Two Killed While En Route to Family Gathering

CHICAGO (UP)—Two members of a Port Huron, Mich., family were killed today and two others injured when the car in which they were riding to a Thanksgiving family gathering collided with a trailer truck in suburban La Grange.

Dead in the crash were Charles Crago, 23, the driver, and his brother, James, 15.

Charles Crago's wife, Joyce, 22, and Leonard Crago, 25, another member of the family, were injured. They were taken to Community Memorial General Hospital in La Grange.

Leonard Crago's wife, Shirley, 22, was not hurt. Neither were the driver of the truck, Edward Halboth, 43, Boyer, Iowa, and his companion, Manuel Aschinger, 37, Westside, Iowa, owner of 21 cattle on the truck.

The Little Theater movement started in Provincetown, Mass., during the summer of 1915.

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—Thanksgiving Day dinner at Illinois welfare institutions will require some doing.

It involves 15 1/4 tons of turkey, 2 3/4 tons of cranberry sauce, 2 3/4 tons of turkey dressing, and similar quantities of potatoes, gravy, celery, rolls, butter, coffee and pumpkin pie.

Welfare Director Dr. Otto L. Bettag said the dinners will be served to about 38,000 patients in state mental hospitals, 10,000 in state schools for the mentally retarded, and 2,000 children and adults in other Welfare Department facilities and staff members.

Four Indicted For Bank Holdup

DANVILLE, Ill. (UP)—Four men were indicted by a federal grand jury Tuesday in connection with the $1,536 holdup of the First National Bank of Thomasboro, Ill., Nov. 9.

Staff Sgt. Howard Berrian, 27, Chanute Air Force Base, was charged with the actual robbery. Melvin R. Wesley, 21, Urbana, was accused of conspiracy in the robbery.

Two men, William O. Love and Joseph P. Wade, both of Chanute, were indicted for making false statements to the FBI. Love also was accused of receiving $258 of the bank loot.

A lone gunman wearing an Air Force lieutenant's uniform held up the bank and fled to the air base where he disappeared in a barracks. Berrian was arrested when the car used in the robbery was traced to him.

Bond was set at $25,000 for Berrian, $10,000 for Wesley, and $1,500 each for Love and Wade.

Marilyn Returns Home, Disappoints The Photographers

NEW YORK (UP)—A tired Marilyn Monroe returned home today and gave photographers their biggest disappointment since she turned briefly to high-necked dresses a while back.

The blonde movie queen stepped off a plane from London where she just finished the movie "The Sleeping Prince" with Sir Laurence Olivier.

Most of Marilyn was covered by a mink coat and a severe black dress. She wore dark glasses.

She brushed off a crowd of newsmen and photographers and hurried into a hired limousine with her husband, playwright Arthur

Miller, and her secretary, Lois Weber.

Wildcats Hand Cave-in-Rock First Loss, 78-46

Fourth Victory
Of Season for Carrier Mills Five

The Carrier Mills Wildcats remained in the unbeaten class Tuesday night by beating Cave-in-Rock 78-46 on the 'Cats floor. It was the fourth victory of the 1956-57 season for Carrier Mills and the first loss in three starts for Cave-in-Rock.

Carrier Mills jumped out in front and held command of the situation all the way.

At the game's beginning the Rockers tried a pressing defense and although it was Carrier Mills' first contact with that type of defense, the 'Cats drove through without much trouble. Later the Rockers dropped back into a zone defense, but the taller Wildcats continued to roll.

Ten players got into varsity action with seven scoring. Rollins and Fitts waged a battle for scoring honors, Rollins getting 23 and Fitts 21. Dutton's 15 was tops for Cave-in-Rock.

In the preliminary game the Kittens of Carrier Mills continued their high scoring game, taking a 97-32 victory from the Cave-in-Rock youngsters.

Next game on the CM schedule is at Johnston City Nov. 30. Cave-in-Rock goes outside the state Saturday night, playing Kirk-Hughes, Ky. and will play a GEC game, entertaining Rosiclare Nov. 27.

The freshman-sophomore squad had a 3 won-4 lost record, opening the season with four consecutive losses to Benton, Carbondale, Harrisburg and Fairfield, then completely reversing the trend and won from Carmi, McLeansboro and Marion.

Charles Leonard, veteran member of the coaching staff, paid tribute to the team's outstanding spirit and called it one of the outstanding teams in the nine years he has been at Eldorado.

Leonard received a gift from the squad and Adams was presented a trophy which listed the team record and was signed "The Mighty Mites."

Bill Scribner, Lions' president, was master of ceremonies, the invocation was by Rev. Austin Heuvel, pastor of the Presbyterian church and Elder Lester Ragland gave the benediction.

Gary Cawthon and Neil Jones.

Receiving freshman-sophomore letters were Jack Fowler, Dwight Laffoon, Chuck McCallister, John Allen, Phillip Brown, Jim Dorman, Ronnie Hall, Ronnie Rains, Drexel Reed, Tom Baugher, Thornton Davis, Larry Miller, Gary Bray, John Everett, Larry Neal, Randy Scates, John Bertino and Dean Barrowman and Leroy Parmley received a manager's letter.

Adams reviewed the varsity season of eight victories and one defeat and called the team "amazing" as there was very little experience or weight among the squad and the record was made

Vote Newcombe Most Valuable

NEW YORK (AP)—Lumbering Don Newcombe, the bulky Brooklyn pitcher who supposedly isn't able to win the "big ones," won the biggest honor the National League has to offer today when he was named the Most Valuable Player for 1956.

The 30-year-old Dodger right-hander gathered a total of 223 points to beat out teammate Sal Maglie, who finished a surprisingly strong second with 183 points.

For Newcombe, who won 27 games the past season but was knocked out twice by the Yankees in the World Series, his first MVP award capped an unusual year during which "choke-up" charges were hurled at him despite his impressive victory total.

And for the 39-year-old Maglie, who was considered "all through" when Cleveland let him go to the Dodgers in May, his strong second-place showing climaxed a banner season during which he pitched a no-hitter against the Phillies and proved a motivating force in Brooklyn's climb to the pennant.

The entire balloting, in which 24 members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America took part, was more or less a monopoly for the Dodgers. Five of them finished among the top 10, with second baseman Junior Gilliam winding up fifth, shortstop Pee Wee Reese eighth and centerfielder Duke Snider 10th.

Milwaukee outfielder Hank Aaron, the league's leading hitter with a .328 average, gained third place behind Newcombe and Maglie with 146 points, teammate Warren Spahn, who won 20 games, was fourth with 126 points and Gilliam had 103 points in fifth place.

They were followed by shortstop Roy McMillan of the Redlegs, in sixth place with 96 points; rookie Cincinnati outfielder Frank Robinson with 79 points; Reese with 71 points; Stan Musial of the Cardinals with 62 and Snider with 55.

Infant Strangled By Cord from Doorknob

CHICAGO (UP)—A Fire Dept. rescue squad arrived too late to save the life of a 16-month-old boy who was strangled by a cord hanging from a doorknob in his home Tuesday.

Daniel Duffin, Jr., had been left alone in the apartment for five minutes by his mother, Mrs. Maureen Duffin, 30, while she went downstairs.

She returned to find the infant choked by a looped cord used to hold the door open.

'U. S. Shrugs Off 'Vodka Tirades' By Khrushchev At Moscow Reception

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States is shrugging off Soviet Communist boss Nikita Khrushchev's latest anti-Western tirades at Moscow receptions.

The bitter words are being credited by U. S. officials to merely a combined attack of vodka and frustration over Soviet reverses in Eastern Europe.

Khrushchev gave out last week end with one anti-Western tirade at a reception honoring Polish officials at the Kremlin and another at a reception at the Polish Embassy.

U. S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen and other Western diplomats walked out of range as Khrushchev stormed about "intrigues of imperialists" in the Middle East and Hungary.

The walkout let the Russians know how the Western diplomats felt. But the State Department doesn't think the incident worth carrying any further.

That is what World War II and the cold war have done toward toughening the hide of international diplomacy. Harsh and insulting language no longer cuts as deep as it once did.

In years not far back the reaction would have been sharper. Old style diplomacy probably would have called for a protest, envoys would have been ordered home for "consultation" and diplomatic relations might have been cut.

But the United States today regards the keeping open of diplomatic relations an important way to watch for trouble and possibly to prevent it.

Olympics Open Thursday With U. S. Favored After Big Battle with Russians

MELBOURNE (AP) — The XVI Olympic opens Thursday with 4,985 athletes from 60 countries determined to make this city an island of good will in a world torn by strife.

The great parade of the world's top athletes begins in the main stadium at the Melbourne cricket grounds at 3 p. m. (Midnight Wednesday EST). For the next 16 days they will go all out in an unprecedented assault on world records—bearing in mind at the same time the Olympic code that "the main objective is not to win, but to play the game well."

A crowd of 110,000, including visitors from all over the world, will be on hand for the colorful opening ceremonies and the excitement is expected to increase rather than diminish as the games proceed. This nation's population is scarcely 8.5 million but at least that number of grandmothers will be reported ailing in the next two weeks.

Battle With Russia Looms

The United States, as usual, is favored to win the unofficial "team championship" after a titanic battle with Russia. The U. S. has sent a squad of 386 athletes while Russia has entered 412 men and women and promises to press the American stars all the way.

The U. S. team is generally admitted to be the strongest ever entered in an Olympiad and may exceed the 40 gold medals it won in the 1952 games at Helsinki, Finland. U. S. coaches anticipate perhaps 14 gold medals in 24 track and field events with additional medals in boxing, as many as four in weightlifting, and other medals in basketball, yachting and wrestling.

Russia is expected to show general improvement in virtually every sport but its main strength probably will lie in the gymnastic events and in the women's track and field. The Russians won two team medals and 21 individual medals for a total of 23 in 1952. The 1952 unofficial team point score had the U. S. in front, 614 to 553 1/2—just about the figures impartial experts expect the teams to achieve this year.

The Ridgway Eagles continued their victory march Tuesday night by rolling over Thompsonville 81-43. The game was played on the winners' floor and marked the fourth victory of the season in as many starts for Ridgway, one more than Ridgway won throughout the 1955-56 season.

Ridgway again was led by its towering sophomore center, 6-8 Roger Suttner, who hit the nets for 26 points, grabbed 41 rebounds and battered away 18 attempted shots by Thompsonville.

To completely control the rebounding, Lawler added 31 and Clifford 17 to Suttner's 41, just about shutting out the visitors in this important department of play.

Lawler and Clifford were also high in the point making with 17 and 20 respectively and four others, Ballard, Drone, Schmidt and Ambros, added to the victorious point total.

Ridgway also won the preliminary game by the one-sided count of 76-25.

Coach Bob Dallas' Eagles will be idle for more than a week as the next scheduled game is at Crossville Friday, Nov. 30.

Hawks Defeat Syracuse, 104-81

By United Press
The revamped St. Louis Hawks, paced by Paul Pettit and easy Ed Macauley, are pulling away from their rivals in the National Basketball Association's Western Division race.

With Pettit hitting for 26 points and Macauley for 21, the Hawks scored an easy 104-81 victory over the Syracuse Nationals in St. Louis Tuesday night in the only game played in the NBA. Tonight, the Hawks are in Rochester, for a game with the Royals, while Fort Wayne plays New York and Philadelphia meets the Celtics in a doubleheader at Boston.

The Hawks, unbeaten on their home court this season, gained their sixth win in St. Louis. Their over-all record stands at seven victories in 10 starts.

Tatum Apologizes To Opponents for Ineligible Player

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (AP)—North Carolina Coach Jim Tatum apologized today for having a player on the Tarheel squad who used two names to play five years of football for two different colleges.

Vince Olen, a junior end from Swoyersville, Pa., was suspended Tuesday when he admitted to university officials that he once played at Temple University in Philadelphia under his real name of Vince Olenik.

"I am glad that it came out before the Duke game and we are embarrassed that he has competed in games here in the past," Tatum said. "I am writing apologies to all our opponents."

Picking the Grid Winners

IN THE Sports Parade

By CARL LUNDQUIST
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—For those who like dark meat, crow may be an acceptable substitute for the Thanksgiving turkey. And since a fellow can't crow unless he comes up with a solid slate of winners, he might as well eat crow instead. Anyway how about these little tidbits to whet the appetite?

Game of the Week
Ohio State over Michigan—The Buckeyes still are shooting for at least a share of the Big Ten title. Losing to Iowa was nothing to be ashamed of. The Hawkeyes simply proved they had been underrated.

Villanova over Iowa State—And these Cyclones won't blow out the fire.

Columbia over Rutgers—Little enough to do for Coach Lou in his finale.

Also: Boston College over Brandeis South.

Tennessee over Kentucky—Who? Volunteer to feed the Wildcats?

Georgia Tech over Florida—The Engineers want dinner in a bowl.

Clemson over Virginia—These Tigers are hungry, too.

Alabama over Mississippi Southern—A Crimson Tide all over the tablecloth.

Also: Miami over West Virginia, Duke over North Carolina, Auburn over Florida State.

Equality Scores 60-55 Win Over Crab Orchard

Equality cracked the victory column Tuesday night, beating invading Crab Orchard 60-55.

Pacing the Equality team in scoring was Harlin Barnett, sophomore center, with 17 points and he was well backed up by the great ball hawking and all round floor play of Terry Glover and the rebounding of Gordon Smith.

Moore of Crab Orchard was the game's top scorer, accounting for 18 of his team's points.

Equality will be idle until Nov. 30, when Cave-in-Rock calls for a Greater Egyptian conference game.

Cardinal Back Fined, Suspended

CHICAGO (AP)—Quarterback Lamar McHan of the Chicago Cardinals was under indefinite suspension and subject to a $5,000 fine today but he said he would show up at practice and it was likely he would be back in the lineup within two weeks.

McHan was suspended Tuesday by the assistant coaches when he refused to go on the practice field after he received a letter from Managing Director Walter Wolfner notifying him of the fine, the largest in National Football League history, for "insubordination" in Saturday's 14-7 loss at Pittsburgh.

However, both McHan and head Coach Ray Richards wanted the former Arkansas single wing star back in the lineup and Richards, who returned Tuesday after he was hospitalized in Pittsburgh with a gall bladder ailment, said his "chances are good."

"All he's got to do is prove himself to the coaching staff," Richards said.

McHan scored 49 points for the St. Louis Hawks the other night.

How good can you get? Well, Neil Johnston is the only active performer in the National Basketball Association who has poured in more points than Pettit in one game.

The reformed baseball pitcher with the Philadelphia Warriors dumped in 50 against Syracuse two winters back. The all-time record is Joe Fulks' 63 for the Warriors against the old Indianapolis Olympians in 1949.

Pettit will get even hotter some evening and top this sure pop. He enjoyed his field night against St. Louis' sternest challenger in the early Western Division going, Rochester. The pink-cheeked Louisiana State All-American further demonstrated just how well he gets up there with 29 rebounds.

His binge swept him past Johnston and into the league's scoring lead.

Pettit usurped Johnston's scoring championship last season after the willowy Warrior had shown the way for two campaigns.

He is now replacing Bob Cousy of the Boston Celtics as basketball's new Mr. Big. Cousy, the remarkable ball-handler and assist man, came out of Holy Cross to take charge when George Mikan of the Minneapolis Lakers started to slow down after having been voted the best basketball player in 50 years.

THE TOWERING, BESPECTACLED Mikan perhaps is the only basketball player who ever had his name in lights. It appeared over the marquee wherever he appeared.

Pettit, 23 and six feet nine, has the height and ability to attain the stature enjoyed by Mikan for so many years.

"He is a big man who moves and handles the ball like a little man," says Coach Red Holzman. "He has the best touch on the jump shot in the game. He is in no way a selfish player, passes off real well. His teammates don't mind hitting him because they

Looking At Sports

By BILL MELTON

Hope none of you travelled to Rosiclare Tuesday night to see a basketball game, with Shawneetown the visitors. Because there wasn't a game. It will be played tonight.

In Tuesday's Daily Register a story regarding the Rosiclare schedule stated Shawneetown played at Rosiclare Tuesday. But it was wrong.

The game tonight is one of the few, maybe the only, Wednesday game to be played during the season so I just plain made a mistake and considered it to be a Tuesday game.

Carrier Mills Coach A. L. "Kaye" Willis and Mrs. Willis are the parents of a baby born at the Ferrell hospital, Eldorado. The baby, weighing 8 pounds, 11 ounces at birth has been named Gregory Scott. This is their second son. The Willis family resides on North Friend Street, Carrier Mills.

There will be no general public sale of tickets to Illinois home basketball games this season, Douglas R. Mills, director of athletics, announced today. However, tickets will be available to the public for two games which will be played during University holidays.

Athletic Association Ticket Office, 102 Illinois Hall, Champaign, is now taking order for reserved seat tickets for games against Princeton, Dec. 28, and Ohio State, Feb. 4.

University students, faculty, and staff holding Athletic Activity cards will receive tickets for four home games this year, instead of for three games as in the past.

Attacks of Carbondale, with a victory over Mt. Vernon last Saturday night, is now considered one of the top cage teams in Egypt.

Attacks, with 6-6 center Force packing the attack with 13 points, outscored the Rams 16-11 in the final frame to gain a five-point, 49-44, decision.

It was the third victory of the season for Attacks and the season's opening game for Mt. Vernon.

Illinois can base some hope for victory against Northwestern Saturday on the fact that Wildcats were scouted by Chuck Purvis, backfield coach. Purvis also scouted California and Michigan State, only teams Illinois have beaten this year.

Pinckneyville Rated One Of State's Best as State's Larger Schools Begin Play

By United Press
The 1956-57 high school basketball season gets rolling this weekend, and for the first time in two years pre-season figuring indicates a new state champion will be crowned when the long chase ends at the "Sweet Sixteen."

Many smaller schools have already started play. The larger schools, tied up with football up to now, will get into action for the first time this week and next.

The long race for state tournament glory ends March 19-23. Defending champion Rockford West has a new coach, Bob King, and an entirely new first string. King, minus the services of twin giants Nolden Gentry and John Wessels who led the Warriors on two straight state titles, doesn't expect too great things from his club this year, particularly early in the season. The Warriors start play Nov. 30 against Belvidere.

Panthers Among Favorites
Again this year, as it seems every year, Duster Thomas' Pinckneyville Panthers are rated one of the top choices to go all the way to the state championship.

All last season Thomas said his team was young, and just developing for the coming season. That "developing" team got into the "Sweet Sixteen" round of the state tournament before losing to West Frankfort. This year even the normally cautious Thomas says the Panthers' prospects are "good."

Pinckneyville also opens Nov. 30, against Sparta.

Some of the other teams rated strong in pre-season doping are Champaign, Elgin, La Grange, Mount Vernon, Springfield, Lanphier, Moline, and Peoria Central.

Edwardsville's Tigers, who lost a 67-65 thriller to Rockford West in the state final last season, have three regulars back, but will be without the services of scoring ace Governor Vaughn and Manny Jackson. The Tigers open Nov. 30 against Highland.

Paris Plays Kansas
Three Eastern Illinois Conference games highlight this weekend's schedule—Paris at Kansas, Charleston at Westfield, and Robinson at Robinson.

Also Friday, Flora's Wolves meet Louisville, and Vandalia plays Sandoval, Jerseyville is at Hillsboro, and Auburn at Mount Olive.

Asks State Income Tax, Building Fund

CHICAGO (AP)—The Illinois Association of School Boards was on record today with resolutions calling for a state income tax and a school building revolving fund to relieve the state's tightening of school financing.

The tax resolution, adopted Monday by the IASB together with the revolving fund proposal and eight other resolutions, said the appropriation for public schools must be increased more than 50 million dollars to maintain its present level.

It was also pointed out that the increase of 1.2 cent in the state sales tax expires at the end of the current biennium.

The resolution urged the General Assembly to "study new sources of revenue, including taxes related to income, to prevent the entire burden of increasing costs from falling on real estate."

In the fund resolution, the IASB suggested that the Legislature set up a school building revolving fund to provide "much-needed classrooms" for school districts which are hard-pressed.

Petty Officer Is Sentenced

GREAT LAKES, Ill. (AP)—A petty officer at the Naval Training Center here has been found guilty of maltreating recruits and sentenced to six months in prison, it was learned today.

Walter Katzenberger, 30, of Allenton, Wis., also was convicted of soliciting and accepting a $90 gift from the recruits he commanded last April.

The court martial which tried him also sentenced him to loss of all pay and allowances, reduction in rank to seaman recruit, and a bad conduct discharge.

Argentina's Plata sometimes is called a river, but it really is a shallow freshwater bay, into which the river system flows.
